Biomechanically Sound

The contoured back pad provides proper support to ensure back muscle activation throughout the movement. The fixed footplate provides stability during the full range of motion.

Designed to Go the Distance

Sealed bearings in all pivot points, oversized steel tubing, and chrome-plated adjustment plates make for quiet, durable operation for years to come.

Focused on the Experience

The open design and single adjustment of the movement arm allows for exercisers to start their workout quickly and easily. The start position, weight adjustment and patented add-on weight switch are all conveniently located from the seated position.
